“ I met Bryan several years ago via a mutual friend. He introduced me to several of his friends and made me feel accepted immediately. Through the years I discovered that we also shared many mutual friends, although we attended different schools in the area. Bryan was always in a good mood and his smile was contagious indeed. We messaged each other occasionally and the last time we spoke he expressed how truly blessed his life had been and I know he gave all the credit to God. While I will miss him, I will look forward to meeting him again some day. Rest In peace kind friend!
