“ Words are difficult at times like this. We want you all to know that our hearts are hurting today so much for your loss. You have been and are in thoughts and prayers since receiving word of Jamie's passing. There is one thing we did know that Jamie is celebrating a victory in Jesus with no more pain.
Love you all.

“ Jamie and I are cousins that are 9 years apart. One of my fondest memories of Jamie was several years ago. My son AJ, her brothers; Steve, and Cody and I were playing football in the backyard at grandmother’s house. We were all adults and had not been together in quite sometime. I have this perfect snapshot of Jamie’s face in my head as she caught the ball over her shoulder in perfect Jerry Rice type form for a touchdown. It was beautiful. Jamie is a believer in Christ so she is still alive! She is beautiful!

“ I remember several of things about Jamie.

Firstly, we got lost in the green belt between our neighborhoods, and when we got back to her house we had tics in our hair! We went screaming through her house. 😂

She taught me to add Cajun spices to my Mac and Cheese.

She was such a great musician. I heard several other sax players tried valiantly to beat her in chair tests and failed. ❤️
