“ This picture is a very good image of the way Jessie was, a smile for every one he met. He is now smiling and rejoicing with the Lord. He will be greatly missed on this Earth, but he is shouting Hallelujah because he is so happy to be in Heaven. I am sad for those left behind who love him so much, but we have to be happy for Jessie since he has reached the home we are all working toward. He will live on in our memories ❤️ I pray for strength and comfort from the Lord for all of your family.
