“ Ronnie was a very special cousin to me. Although I am quite a bit younger than Ronnie, even as a pre-teen, he treated me as an adult, rather than as a "little cousin". I remember Ronnie showing my father, William Andrew Phipps (also affectionately called "Boob" by my aunts and uncles and cousins), his latest car when we went to see our Grandmother Anna Phipps. He always seemed to have a new "hot-rod" and would take us for a very fast ride and show us what was under the hood. I also remember a horse that he let my sister, Elizabeth, and I sit on when we were very young. I will miss my cousin Ronnie and will continue to remember him fondly for the rest of my life. My wife Wendy and I hope that Linda and Sean know that she and everyone in Ronnie's family are in our hearts and in our prayers.
