“ You always had that smile from as long as I can remember. You were soft spoken and so caring but so passionate about life. I can remember when we were kids in Maquan Illinois at Grandma's house. She had an old shed out in her back yard full of corn cobs. Steve found some nails and rope so he and I made sail boats out of the cobb's and took them down the bank under the bridge to sail them in the stream. We followed those boats for what seemed like all day while laughing and talking about our futures. He was such fun to be with and I always felt blessed to have him in my life. Later as we grew up, we ended up going to college together which made those days so much fun. He'd come get me for breakfast and we always started our day with a laugh and a big hug. We rode together going to Shell Knob on weekends to see our parents from school and always planned out our next week's adventures during our car ride. We shared wonderful moments together and I loved him dearly. I will never forget his words of encouragement when I married Tim. He told me that love is meant to last forever and to never forget to say I love you every day to those I care about. I have carried that forward in my life and have lived by his example. He will forever live in my heart and I am a better person having had him in my life. He has gone now to serve our Lord but his footprints are forever in my heart. I love you Steve. Always always...XOXO
